

Create a scenario

A scenario is a higher-level structure above the sample set, typically corresponding to a geographical area where a large-scale nuclear event occurred and containing all of the sample sets collected by responders in all iterations (see the overall workflow).